The Life of John McCrae

John McCrae was born on November 30, 1872, in Guelph, Ontario, Canada. He was educated at the University of Toronto, where he studied medicine, graduating in 1898. His early career involved serving as a resident at Toronto General Hospital, followed by a stint in the medical field where he worked with various health organizations.

In addition to his medical career, McCrae was passionate about literature and poetry, often penning verses that reflected his thoughts and experiences. His literary talents would soon intertwine with his military service during the First World War.

Military Career and the Writing of the Poem
