Nebraska Furniture Mart is a renowned furniture retailer that has earned a commendable reputation for its extensive selection of home furnishings, appliances, and electronics. Established in 1937, the company has grown from a small local business in Omaha, Nebraska, into one of the largest furniture retailers in the United States. This article delves into the rich history of Nebraska Furniture Mart, exploring its founding, expansion, innovations, and influence on the furniture retail industry.

Founding and Early Years

Nebraska Furniture Mart was founded by Rose Blumkin, a Russian immigrant who arrived in the United States in 1911. With a keen entrepreneurial spirit and a passion for furniture, Blumkin started selling furniture from the basement of her home in Omaha. Her determination and commitment to providing quality products at competitive prices quickly gained her a loyal customer base.

In 1937, Rose opened the first official Nebraska Furniture Mart store in Omaha. The store's success was driven by her philosophy of providing customers with high-quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices. She famously stated, "My customers are my best friends," emphasizing her dedication to customer service and satisfaction.

Expansion and Growth

As Nebraska Furniture Mart gained popularity, the company began to expand its operations. The following factors contributed to its growth:

Strategic Location

- The original Omaha store was situated in a prime location, making it accessible to a large customer base.
- The store's success in Omaha prompted the opening of additional locations in the surrounding areas.

Diverse Product Offerings

- Nebraska Furniture Mart diversified its product range to include not just furniture, but also appliances, flooring, and home décor items.
- The company made a name for itself by offering a wide variety of styles and price points, catering to different customer preferences.

Innovative Marketing Strategies

- Rose Blumkin employed creative marketing strategies to attract customers, including advertising in local newspapers and hosting promotional events.
- The store's reputation for low prices and quality products quickly spread, leading to increased foot traffic and sales.

Acquisition by Berkshire Hathaway

In 1983, Nebraska Furniture Mart underwent a significant change when it was acquired by Warren Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway. This acquisition marked a new chapter in the company's history, providing it with additional resources and support for further expansion. Under Berkshire Hathaway's ownership, Nebraska Furniture Mart continued to thrive and grow, maintaining its commitment to quality and customer service.

Expansion Beyond Nebraska

Following the acquisition, Nebraska Furniture Mart expanded beyond its Omaha roots. The company opened new stores in several states, including:

1. Kansas City, Missouri: In 1995, Nebraska Furniture Mart opened its first store outside Nebraska, establishing a strong presence in the Kansas City metropolitan area.
2. Texas: In 2015, the company opened a massive 560,000 square-foot store in The Colony, Texas, which quickly became one of the largest home furnishing stores in the nation.
3. Expansion into Other Markets: Nebraska Furniture Mart has continued to explore opportunities for expansion, with plans for future stores in various locations across the United States.
