Overview of Period 7

Period 7 in APUSH encapsulates a transformative time in American history. It includes the rise of the United States as a global power, the impact of industrialization, the struggles for civil rights, the Great Depression, and two World Wars. This period is characterized by several key themes:

- Expansion and Imperialism
- Progressive Reform Movements
- The Great Depression
- World Wars and American Foreign Policy
- Social Change and Civil Rights Movements

Key Themes and Events

1. Expansion and Imperialism

The late 19th and early 20th centuries marked a significant shift in U.S. foreign policy, characterized by an eagerness to expand beyond its borders. The motivations behind American imperialism included:

- Desire for new markets for American goods
- Nationalism and competition with European powers
- Belief in the superiority of American culture and democracy

Key events include:

- The Spanish-American War (1898): This conflict resulted in the U.S. acquiring territories such as Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Philippines.

- The Open Door Policy (1899): This policy aimed to ensure equal trading rights for all nations in China, reflecting America's interests in global trade.
- The Panama Canal (1914): The construction of the canal facilitated military and commercial shipping, solidifying U.S. influence in Central America.

2. Progressive Reform Movements

The Progressive Era (1890-1920) was a response to the challenges posed by industrialization and urbanization. Reformers sought to address issues such as corruption, labor conditions, and social justice. Key aspects include:

- Women's Suffrage Movement: Led to the passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920, granting women the right to vote.
- Labor Reforms: The establishment of labor laws to improve working conditions and reduce child labor.
- Social Gospel Movement: Aimed at applying Christian ethics to social problems, promoting social justice and humanitarianism.

Important figures:

- Theodore Roosevelt: His presidency was marked by progressive reforms, including trust-busting and the establishment of national parks.
- Jane Addams: A leader in social reform, she founded Hull House in Chicago, providing services for immigrants and the poor.

3. The Great Depression

The Great Depression (1929-1939) was a severe global economic downturn that had profound effects on American society and governance. Causes included:

- Stock Market Crash of 1929: A catastrophic event that initiated widespread economic decline.
- Bank Failures: A lack of public confidence led to bank runs and closures.
- Drought and Dust Bowl: Environmental factors exacerbated the economic crisis for farmers.

The government's response involved:

- Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal: A series of programs and policies aimed at economic recovery, including Social Security, public works projects, and financial reforms.

Key New Deal agencies include:

- Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC)
- Public Works Administration (PWA)
- Social Security Administration (SSA)

4. World Wars and American Foreign Policy

The U.S. played a critical role in both World War I and World War II, marking its emergence as a global superpower.

- World War I (1914–1918): The U.S. entered the war in 1917, contributing to the Allied victory. The Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations sparked debates about isolationism versus internationalism.
- World War II (1939–1945): The attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 prompted the U.S. to join the Allies. Key events include:
 - D-Day (1944): The Allied invasion of Normandy, a turning point in the war.
 - Use of Atomic Bombs (1945): The bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki led to Japan's surrender and raised ethical questions about nuclear warfare.

5. Social Change and Civil Rights Movements

The period also witnessed significant social changes and the beginnings of the civil rights movement. The effects of the Great Migration, where African Americans moved north for better opportunities, led to increased racial tensions and the Harlem Renaissance, a cultural explosion celebrating African American culture.

Key developments include:

- The NAACP and its role: The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People worked to combat racial discrimination and secure civil rights.
- The New Deal and its impact on minorities: Although many programs were discriminatory, the period set the stage for future civil rights advancements.
